I AM IFRAH

Besides scoring an overall A grade I achieved the highest marks in Home Economics SSC Part 1 in AKU-EB in the entire Sindh. I feel extremely grateful to Allah Tala for my success; however I am even more grateful for all those times when I failed. My failures and disappointments have made me who I am today and I would not hesitate a moment to say that the reason of my success today is my perseverance after every failure in the past.

MY FAILURES AND DISAPPOINTMENTS HAVE MADE ME WHO I AM

It all started when I was a 2.5 year old. I entered kiran Ibtedai school as a little child, a complete beginner; there I was taught to believe in myself. I was loved unconditionally which brought out the confidence in me and made me courageous to accept failures and imperfectness. At that tender age I was taught to take my little decisions myself which had helped me tremendously today. I found admision in Habib Girls School in Nursery and have been there ever since. Kiran was my mentor for making things easy at such a competitive school. Managing two worlds socially and emotionally would not have been possible if kiran would not have helped my mother to become my biggest support system.

I WAS TAUGHT TO TAKE MY LITTLE DECISIONS MYSELF

Time passed and last year when I was choosing my subjects, I choose humanities. With this selection I had to face many difficulties and answer many questions. I had to face comparisons with my fellow friends who had chosen sciences.

In our society students of humanities are considered as the B grade students and are made to be felt left out. They are labelled as 'the one's who were not competent enough for science'.

I had decided to change this mindset and with passion, dignity and confidence I took up Humanities .

I TOOK UP HUMANITIES

A number of obstacles came into my way but I didn't let them distract me.

At a certain point I even had to distance away from of my peers who made me feel Inferior. In such times my mother always stood by me and supported me. She helped me and asked me to ignore the hurtful whispers and listen to my heart. She nurtured my patience and helped me to wait for my success. She assured me that once I achieve these whispers which demotivate me will shut down. Today I feel like she was always right and half of my work is already done.

To all those parents who think science has all the scope, they are totally wrong. In the present day scenario humanities is the most critical subject and I feel it should be mandatory for even science students.

MY MOTHER ALWAYS STOOD BY ME

If your children choose humanities, please support them and focus on their strengths and abilities rather than their weaknesses.

Lastly it's my request to all the teenagers that work hard, stay focused on your studies and minimize the use of phone, social media and television. These screens bring us no good, it's simply a waste of our precious time. Plus make the right choices when choosing friends after all this is the only close relationship we can chose ourselves.

OUR FUTURE DEPENDS ON THE CHOICES WE MAKE
